"You've got a little lump up there," said the Doctor.

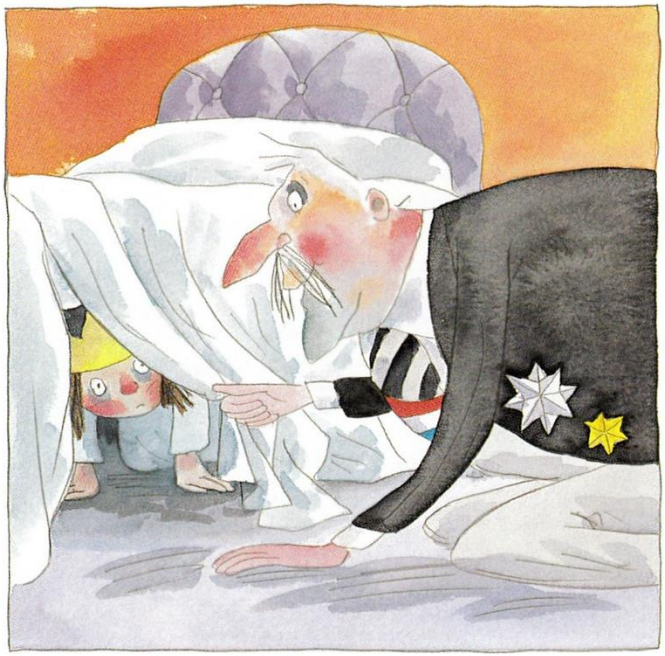
"I'll get it out," said the General, drawing his sword.

"No," said the Doctor, "it won't come out. Her Majesty must go to hospital."

"No!" cried the Little Princess. "I don't want to go to hospital!"

"It's nice in hospital," said the Doctor.
"You'll get sweets and cards."
"I don't want to go," said the Little Princess.

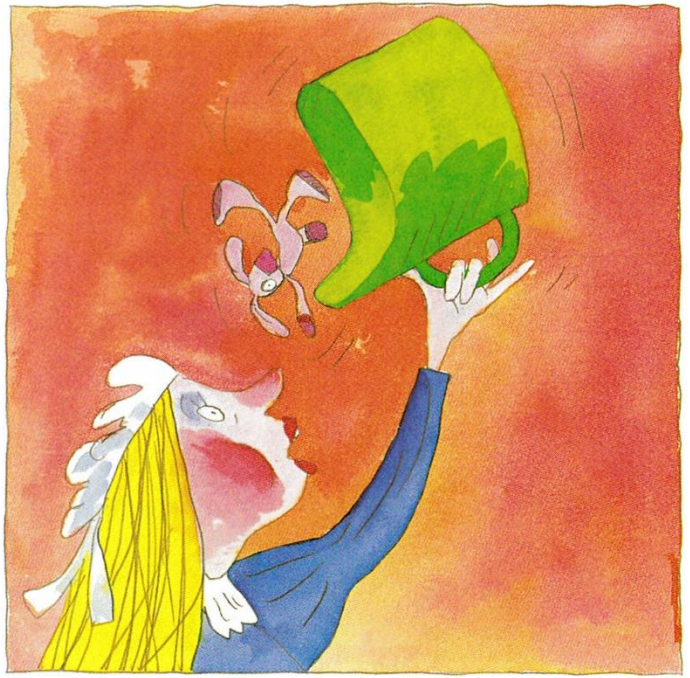
"It's nice in hospital," said the Queen, who had been there.
"I don't want to go," said the Little Princess.



"You'll meet lots of new friends in hospital," said the Prime Minister.

"No! I don't want to go to hospital!" said the Little Princess, and she ran out of the room.

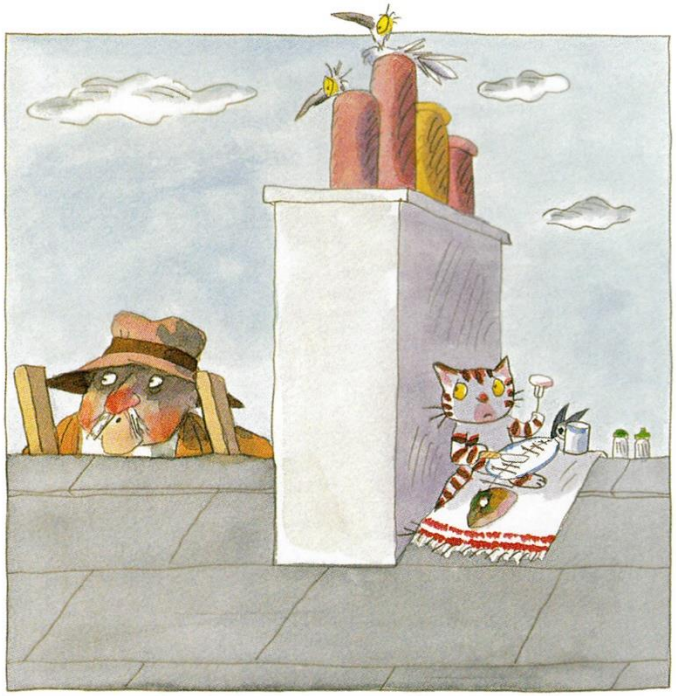
"Where is the Little Princess?" cried the Queen. "It's time to go."



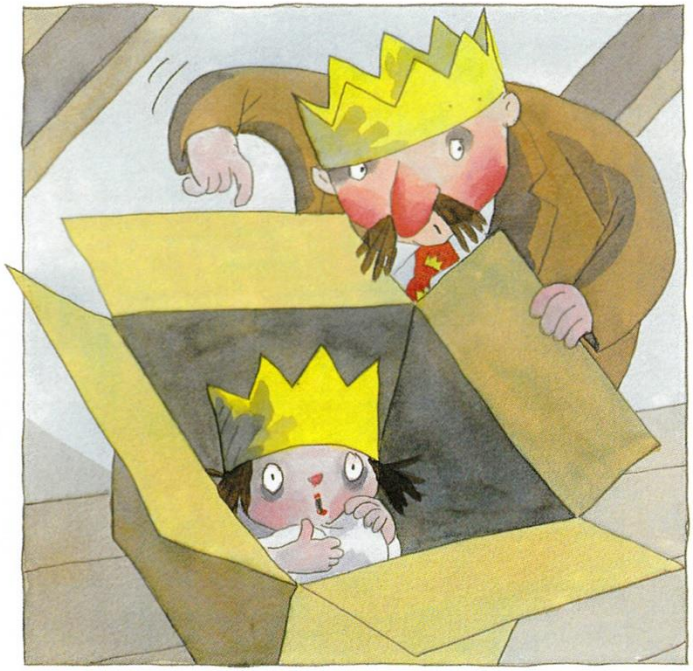
"She's not in her room," said the Maid.

"She's not in the dustbin," said the Cook.

"She's not in any of my boats," said the Admiral.



"She's not on the roof," said the Gardener.



"She's in the attic!" said the King.
"I don't want to go to hospital," said the Little Princess.

But the Little Princess had to go.

And the lump came out of her nose.

"Now you are better," said the Queen,
"you can brush your teeth, and comb your hair . . .

. . . and tidy your room, and . . . "
"No!" cried the Little Princess . . .

". . . I want my tonsils out!"

"But why?" said the Queen.
"I want to go back to hospital," said the Little Princess.

"They treated me like a Princess in there."

“不，”医生说道，“它是不会出来的，公主殿下必须要去医院。”
“No!” cried the Princess. “I don’t want to go to hospital!”
“不！”小公主大喊道。“我不想去医院！”
“It’s nice in hospital,” said the Doctor. “You’ll get sweets and cards.”
“I don’t want to go,” said the Princess.
“医院里面很好的，”医生说道，“你会得到糖果和卡片的。”
“我不想去。”小公主说道。
